Neurominority individuals are not "broken" or "defective," but have unique strengths and perspectives.

MYTH BUSTERS #1

Individuals tell us they sometimes feel broken and defective.

MYTH BUSTERS

Our systems are broken, neurominority people are not.

Elise

MYTH BUSTERS

The lived experience is so diferent from the experience. Stress, panic and anxiety go with the territory if accommodations aren’t given at work.

Stephanie

MYTH BUSTERS

They are the most fun, quirky and loyal people I know. Putting their mind to something they excel over all the others.

charlotte

MYTH BUSTERS

What excellent terms Neurominority and Neuromajority. Neither term better than the other.

Joy

MYTH BUSTERS

Join the debate.
Share your thoughts in the comments below.

MYTH BUSTERS